

I like that Wisconsin's law is tougher. I cannot stand all of those nuisance phone calls. Most of the time when you say you're not interested they still badger you. The only way to stop them from talking is hang up. I think the Federal law should be as strict as Wisconsin's. If it cannot comply, then leave it up to the state to determine how strict this particular law should be.